

Quality Policy

As a supplier of critical components and assemblies for the aviation and defense industries, it is the policy of PCX Aerostructures to comply with all requirements and to never compromise our commitment to provide quality product, on time, to our customers. We expect the same commitment from our subcontractors and other partners. Further, all associates commit to the continual improvement of our systems, processes, procedures, performance objectives, and culture so that we meet or exceed our customers' expectations.
